

Saint Kateri Tekakwitha

Smallpox scarred Kateri's face when she was a little girl and took the lives of her parents and brother. Kateri went to live with her aunt and uncle.

Jesuit missionaries came to teach the Indians about Jesus.

Kateri was baptized a Christian, despite the objections of her relatives.

Kateri fled to escape the persecution of her tribe.

After Kateri died, all the scars disappeared from her face. She is the patron of those persecuted for their faith.
